HONGKONG, NOVEMBER 8TH, 1912.

Three months ago but few people imagined that a Democratic candidate would have a ghost of a chance of succeeding Mr.
Taft as President of the United States of America. Since ABRAHAM LINCOLN'S election fifty years ago, there have been thirteen elections and only on two occasions has a Democrat been victorious. Mr.
GROVER CLEVELAND was elected twice. He served from 1885 to 1889 and again from 1893 to 1897. Since then White House has been occupied by Mr. McKINLEY, Mr.
ROOSEVELT (for two successive terms) and Mr. TAFT—all Republicans. The election of Dr. Woodrow Wilson, a Democrat, is not, of course, indicative of a radical change in the politics of the country. With both Mr. ROOSEVELT and Mr. TAFT in the contest the Republican vote was badly divided, and this has given to Dr. WILSON a number of States which are normally Republican.

Notwithstanding that there was known to be some loss in the Democratic vote—part to Mr. ROOSEVELT and the rest to Mr. TAFT —it was predicted with confidence a week or so before the election that the split in the Republican vote was of such a character as would give to Dr. WILSON a comparatively easy victory. The expected has happened, but seeing that the Democratic majority in the Senate is not more than five, Dr.
WILSON is not likely to find it plain sailing for the next four years, unless he has the support of the ROOSEVELT party. Mr.
ROOSEVELT came out as "the people's candidate" against the alleged corruption and the social and economic backwardness of the two old parties. When Dr. WILSON was nominated as the Democratic candidate, however, Mr. ROOSEVELT was confronted with a rival as progressive as himself, and the feeling widely prevailed indeed that Dr.
WILSON'S candidature would prevent the formation of Mr. ROOSEVELT'S Third Party and that the Progressive Convention would never be held. Those expectations, however, have been fulfilled by the events, and the election returns, so far as they are yet available to us, show that the Third Party is one which may have to be reckoned with in future political campaigns. When Dr.
WILSON unfolded his programme on accepting the Democratic nomination he attacked "every form of special privilege and private control." "Common affairs," he said, "have been determined too much by private initiative.
Our task is to get the whole forces of the people once more into play." Dr. WILSON characterized the Republican tariff as "a system of private favour," and advocated its revision "unhesitatingly and steadily downward." Making the high cost of living an important issue, he claimed that it was due to "private arrangements and agreements among the producers themselves." With regard to the Labour question, he advocated friendly adjustment in the "sense of universal partnership." He declared the working people to be the "backbone of the nation." Dr. WILSON emphasized the great need of constructive statesmanship in the development of great waterways, the increase of transport facilities, the ration of a parcel post, and the revival of the merchant marine, giving the nation a place in international trade. He pointed to the construction of the Panama Canal as "eloquent to our reawakened interest in international trade." "It was ridiculous," however, he added, "if we should build it and not have ships to send through."
Throughout the campaign he has been hammering at the tariff and the trusts on the ground that they are responsible for many of the evils from which he deems the country to be suffering. Writing at the time of Dr. WILSON'S nomination the Times correspondent at Washington said:—"The Governor of New Jersey has already proved himself a good campaigner and no mean politician. Progressive and brilliant, he is bound to attract to his side most of that restless spirit which is now abroad in the land, hankering after reforms that it only vaguely understands. Also, curious as it may seem in view of his rather loosely expressed views upon fiscal and monetary reform, Dr. WOODROW WILSON is better trusted in certain Conservative Eastern quarters than Mr. ROOSEVELT is." We cannot help thinking, too, that the amount of personal rancour which characterised the earlier stages of the struggle between Mr. ROOSEVELT and Mr. TAFT must have turned a good many votes in Dr.
WILSON'S direction, for he is a man who, apart from his political ideals, is widely esteemed throughout the United States for his business capacity and nobility of character. As President of the United States, Dr. WOODROW WILSON will certainly command public confidence both at home and abroad.

Mr. C. H. Barkill has presented to the cipal Police the well-known race pony Cecile Rose, who during his career on the Shanghai, Kiangwan, and Hongkong tracks has won numerous races.

Infantry for absence without leave, was lately, says a Service paper, serving with the 1st Battalion at Hongkong. He rose from the ranks, and whilst a non-commissioned officer took part in the relief of Ladysmith, and was wounded at Vaal Krantz.

A small fire took place at 44, Lynd-hurst Terrace, on Wednesday night in the house occupied by Miss Fisher. It originated in the laundry, and the greater part of the servants' quarters was gutted before the Fire Brigade succeeded in extinguishing the flames. Naturally, there was considerable alarm among the inmates at the occurrence.

Inquiries made at the offices of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company and the P. & O. Steamship Company elicited a flat contradiction of the report published by the Financial Times of Montreal to the effect that negotiations are in progress for the purchase by the Canadian Pacific Company of the fleet of the P. & O. Company at a price approximating $20,000,000.

Royal decorative stamps, intended for placing on all Christmas letters and packages, have been placed on sale by the Philippine Islands Anti-Tuberculosis Society. The stamps serve a double purpose—that of aiding the society in a material way in its campaign against the most formidable disease in the islands, and that of advertising the organization and its campaign on every bit of Christmas mail leaving Manila.

While nothing official has yet transpired it is understood that China purposes reducing the telegraph rates to Europe, beginning on the 1st January, 1913, to three shillings and sixpence per word at full rates. If a profit of ten per cent.
is received during the next three years, a further reduction of sixpence a word will be made. There is, however, much arrangement regarding concessions, etc., which must first be carried out.

The water return showing the storage of water in the Colony's reservoirs on November 1st is not very heartening. The total storage for Victoria and the Hill District was 417 millions as against 679 millions on the same date last year, while the consumption per head has fallen from 24.4 to 17.3 gallons. In Kowloon the total storage of water is represented by 289 million gallons as against 351 million gallons last year. The consumption has increased from 9.1 gallons per head per day last year to 11.2.

The medical authorities in Manila have succeeded in getting the outbreak of plague well in hand. Since June 17th there have been 41 cases, suspected and positive, of plague in Manila. Of these, there were on Saturday, only 12 living. The officials of the bureau of health are under the impression that the situation is now well in hand and that the plague is being kept under control.
The big force of 400 men is still being employed by the bureau in cleaning up the infected portions of the city and in catching rats, the conveyers of the plague through the medium of fleas.

Captain Frederick A. Powlett has been appointed to the command of the Newcastle on recommissioning. Captain Powlett entered the service in July, 1886, was promoted lieutenant in 1894, commander in 1903, and captain just three years ago. He is no stranger to the China Station, having served there two commissions, and one of them during the stirring times which followed the Boxer outbreak of 1900. He was then flag-lieutenant to Admiral Sir E. H. Seymour, commanding the China Squadron, and landed with the naval forces and took part in the advance to Peking, his services on that occasion earning warm commendation in despatches (medal with clasp). Captain Powlett also wears the Royal Prussian Crown Order for services rendered to the Royal Family of Germany.

At the Magistracy yesterday two Chinese were charged with stowing away on the s.s. Aldenhurst, and a fireman was charged with aiding and abetting. The men were found at Brisbane. A fine of $1,000 and three months' imprisonment was inflicted on the fireman—and six months in lieu of non-payment of the fine. The stowaways were fined $500 each, or three months' imprisonment.

RIDING REGULATIONS IN HONGKONG.[TO THE EDITOR OF THE "HONGKONG DAILY PRESS."]

SIR,—Will you permit me to enquire through the medium of your paper what are the rules pertaining to horsemen when riding after dark. Barker Road, of late, has been the scene of several narrow escapes to pedestrians. Only last night, to avoid being knocked down by a horseman coming round a corner at a sharp trot, a lady found it necessary to take to the gutter with such rapidity that a badly sprained ankle is the result.
This sort of thing has been going on for some time past. May I ask whether it is in order?—Yours, etc.,

THE FERRIS HARTMANN
COMPANY.

It says much for the Ferris Hartmann Company that on its first visit to Hongkong it should have achieved such great popularity as is apparent by the good audiences who nightly attend the various productions. Last night was no exception to this rule, and a large house gave an enthusiastic reception to the two act comedy entitled "Mr. O. Joy." It was brimful of fun, and the fine singing and effective situations were enhanced by the excellence of the individual artistes.
Miss "Maggie" Davies and Mr. Roscoe Arbuckle supplied a very effective low comedy combination, while the other performers acquitted themselves exceedingly well.

On Saturday a matinee performance of "The Toy-maker" will be given, to commence at 3.30. Children will be admitted at half price.

"A GOVERNOR, THE THIEVES, AND SOME INNOCENCE."

Under the above heading the Manila Times comments on Sir Henry May's allusions in the Legislative Council to the precautions taken in Manila to prevent larcenies and burglaries. After quoting the reference, the journal adds:

If the dear, innocent Governor only knew. We blush to deceive him. Pride rebels, but the truth must out. Manila has a beautiful lot of barred windows, but if they have interfered with the burglary and robbery industry no one ever suspected it before. But if Manila cannot boast of its protection it surely can boast of its thieves, and if Hongkong has any doubt on the subject and any money in its jeans we will have a burglary event in the first olympic contest at the carnival next year. We are prepared to enter both professional and amateur burglars, pickpockets, second storey men, counter grabbers, sneak thieves and kleptomaniacs of both sexes. Professional performances might be interspersed with running events, a Filipino thief against a Hongkong cop and a Chinese burglar against one of our finest. Also, there could be revolver shooting, thieves firing at dummy cops and vice versa. And if His Excellency will come down we will show him Filipino thieves wriggling through window bars of the type that protect the good Bishop.

a brilliant victory in the face of a mur-the Turkish barracks. The Crown Prince has given Salonika till Monday to

It is reported that the Vali has com-as destitute and in rags. They are selling arms to procure bread, and many were shot for insubordination.

A Constantinople message reports that Nazim Pasha has transferred his headquarters to Hadenkeuy.

The medical staff has been notified to be prepared to receive 21,000 wounded.
There are already 1,500 here. The hospital accommodation and the sanitation

PROBABLE EVACUATION OF CONSTANTINOPLE.

A wireless message from Constantinople says it is authoritatively stated that in the event of the Bulgarians breaking through Chataldja and marching towards Constantinople the Court and Government would proceed to Asia-Minor, disclaiming all responsibility of the consequences. While the report may be well founded, it is regarded more as a hint to stimulate intervention. Certainly the military position of the Turks does not warrant the belief in their ability to stem the Bulgarians, if King Ferdinand aspires to the conquest of the capital.

It appears, however, that the Turks are falling back on Chataldja in good order, though according to reports the "right wing" revolted through lack of food.
Trainloads of bread have been despatched since Sunday with the object of averting a panic.

M. Danoff, President of the Bulgarian Sobranje, interviewed at Sofia, stated that the Bulgarians did not want Con-

The vote at New York was:

Wilson	685,000
Taft	483,000
Roosevelt	419,000

The Democrats have an overwhelming majority in the House, but it is impos-parties in the Senate.

President Taft and Mr. Roosevelt have sent their congratulations to Mr. Wilson.
Colorado, Massachusetts, Montana,

HAMBURG LETTER.

[SPECIALLY WRITTEN FOR THE "HONGKONG DAILY PRESS."]

HAMBURG, October 14th.

THE WAR AND THE MARKETS.

Politics have been the ruling factor in the markets for the past fortnight. Confidence which appeared to be slowly returning at the date of my last letter again received a rude shock by the declaration of war against Turkey by Montenegro and the menacing attitude of the other three Balkan States. Panic once more seized the stock exchanges and this time it was not only the previously inflated securities, but others as well, that suffered; in fact so great was the scare in Vienna at one moment that the government commissioner at the bourse afterwards, by virtue of the powers vested in him, cancelled several sales at unwarrantably low rates. Altogether, with the exception perhaps of Balkan stock, matters seem to have been worse at Vienna than anywhere else, owing to the immediate proximity of Austria-Hungary to the seat of war and its extensive business relations with the belligerent countries. London, on the other hand, showed more composure, speculation having been less rampant there during the summer months than on the Continent, and it is stated to have taken up a large proportion of continental offerings and to have been prepared to take more if prices had receded still further. Since yesterday, however, there is a better feeling in the market, the low prices attracting attention, and although buyers at first proceeded slowly and with a certain hesitation, the news to-day of the signing of the preliminaries of peace between Turkey and Italy has caused a regular boom at rapidly advancing rates.

It is a remarkable proof of the inherent soundness of trade that it should have been so little affected by the political events; buyers may have held back somewhat awaiting further developments, but on the other hand the mobilization of the different armies created a sudden demand for materials of war and for warm clothing, blankets, etc., in view of a winter campaign.

ITALY'S FINANCIAL POSITION.

Herr von Flöckher, German councillor of legation in Rome, has just sent in a most interesting exposé of the financial situation of Italy during the eleven months the war with Turkey has lasted; it proves, what nobody could have foreseen, that the government has been able to defray the cost of the war out of the ordinary revenue without having to raise a loan, which speaks volumes for the economic development of the country. The chief sources of revenue are the tasse sugli affari, the imposte di consumo, the reddito delle privative, the imposte dirette and the preventi delle poste which since the outbreak of the conflict on October 1st, 1911, have produced altogether 1874 million lire up to August 31st, compared with 1,803 millions in the corresponding period of 1910/11, showing a surplus of 71 millions, of which the tasse sugli affari have contributed 9,888 millions, the imposte di consumo 15,599, the reddito delle privative 25,881, the imposte dirette 16,708 and the preventi delle poste 12,453 millions. What is particularly striking is that this surplus should exceed that of the previous year over 1910/11. The import duties on grain, which also show a surplus, have been left out of the calculation, as their yield varies, being entirely dependent on the result of the Italian harvests. The large surplus revenue has not only sufficed to cover the additional expenditure of the campaign, but the Government has even been able to devote a portion of it to increasing the amount allotted in the budget to public works, having a balance of 57 millions in hand from the previous year. The remainder of the cost of the war will have to be borne by the present financial year beginning on July 1st, of which the receipts are estimated at 1,979 million lire or 72 millions less than in 1911/12, but as the two months of July and August already show a surplus of 26½ millions over the corresponding period of last year, they may be expected to exceed the estimate considerably. Besides, strenuous exertions have been made for several years back by all Government departments to reduce their expenditure as much as possible, the annual savings effected amounting on an average to 31 million lire during the last five years.

The prosperous state of Italian finances is all the more remarkable as the country has within the last few years passed through serious visitations of Providence: There was the commercial crisis in 1907, followed by the earthquakes in Calabria and Sicily in 1908, and a most unsatisfactory state both of trade and health in 1910 and 1911, the result of short crops. That in spite of these untoward events the economic condition of the people should have improved at the same rate as the finances of the State is a proof of the rare vitality of the young nation, whilst further evidence of this is to be found in the steady increase in the yield of the taxes on commerce and on articles of consumption and in the returns of the saving banks. These were founded in 1876; in the first twenty-eight years of their existence the deposits reached a milliard lire, to which in the next five years, 1905/9, 600 millions were added, and at the present moment the total may be safely put at two milliards.

The trade of the country likewise shows a rapid improvement, the value of imports during the three years 1909/11 has increased by 445 million lire and that of exports by 461 millions, and during the first eight months of the present year there has been a further increase of 22 and 103 millions respectively.

The annual receipts of the State railways rose from July 1st, to July 1st, 1911, from 408 to 498 millions, whilst an increase of 32.8 millions, compared with the same period last year, is reported for the time from October 1st, 1911, to September 1st this year, of which only 7.8 millions are accounted for by the war tax on railway traffic.

Italian stock, thanks to the conservative policy of the Government in not having continual recourse to foreign loans, has hardly been affected by the war; it stood at about 103 in the middle of last year and is now quoted 98, in spite of the reduction of the rate of interest from 3½ per cent. to 3, whereas English Consols and German, French and other stock have experienced a considerably greater decline in the same time.

The financial position of the Treasury is highly satisfactory, the balances at its disposal being at the present moment 63.7 millions with the Banca d'Italia, 75 millions with various foreign banking establishments, 93 millions in short Treasury bonds, and 155 millions which is legally entitled to claim in advance from the banks charged with the issue of paper money, or 387 millions altogether, of which about 300 are available at any time. The metal reserves of the three banks of issue rose from 1,259 to 1,595 millions during the eleven months of the war, and the amount of gold deposited by the Government with the Cassa dei Depositi e Prestiti as security for the paper money in circulation from 217 to 241.

The conclusion Herr von Flöckher arrives at is that the war has not in any way interfered with or retarded the normal progress of the country, which has remained quiet throughout; that there has been no change in the ordinary course of life of the people; and that the activity in trade, with the exception of some branches, has continued uninterrupted. The building trade in particular has been brisk, Government having spent 20 millions more on public works than in the previous twelve months.

Modern Italy, he says, has passed through the ordeal in a manner worthy of its splendid past. Twice the country has reached the pinnacle of its glory, once in the times of ancient Rome, and then again during the Renaissance; the present period of prosperity promises to last longer than the former ones, the industry of her people and the wise financial policy of her Government having placed her in the front rank of financially independent States.

WRECKED BY A WRECK.

TWO HAMBURG-AMERICA STEAMERS SUNK IN THE ELBE.

Two Hamburg-America Company's steamers sank in the Elbe on the 5th. The Vandalia, coming down stream, collided near Krautand with a floating dock which was being tugged up the river. The Vandalia sank in the middle of the fairway, only her mast and funnels remaining uncovered.

Shortly afterwards, adds Reuter, the Græcia ran into the wreck and was damaged. Her commander ran her ashore. Both crews were saved, but the cook and carpenter of the Vandalia, who were below at the time of the collision, are missing. It is supposed that they were drowned.

THE FAR EAST IN PARLIAMENT.

THE CHINESE LOAN.

Captain Faber (Hampshire, W., Opp.) asked the Secretary for Foreign Affairs whether the surplus revenues from the Salt Gabelle, assigned as security for the Crisp Loan of £10,000,000, were the identical revenues required by the Six-Powers Group as the security under European supervision for a loan up to £20,000,000.

Sir E. Grey.—For the reasons stated in reply to the hon. member for Glasgow on the 14th inst., His Majesty's Government are not at present in a position to disclose details of the conditions put forward by the Six-Powers Group.

Sir F. Cawley (Lancs, Prestwich, Min.) asked whether the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation of the Six-Powers Group, and whether the right hon. gentleman was satisfied that this corporation was a purely British one representing British capital and British interest.

Sir E. Grey.—The answer to the first part of the question is in the affirmative. The head office of the bank is at Hongkong. The management and staff are purely British throughout, but I am aware that there is a minority of foreign directors who are resident in the Colony, representing firms the greater portion of whose capital is engaged in British trade. We understand that the capital is British with the exception of a very small number of shares which are held abroad.

Mr. Ginnell (Westmeath, N., Nat.) asked whether the right hon. gentleman would place in the Library, or make available to members in some way, the English text of the terms sought to be imposed upon China by the Six-Powers Group of financiers; and whether there was anything in those terms, or in the relations between the constituents of that group, calculated to restrict China in the development of any part or parts of Chinese territory.

Sir E. Grey.—The reasons which preclude His Majesty's Government from disclosing at present the terms put forward by the Six-Powers Group were explained in reply to the hon. member for Glasgow College on the 14th inst. The answer to the second part of the question is in the negative.

Mr. Ginnell.—Can the right hon. gentleman account for the fact that notwithstanding the very special support given to the Six-Powers Group by the British Foreign Office that group is still unable to make any progress?

Sir E. Grey.—I can only refer to the answers I have previously given as to the reason why support was given to the Six-Powers Group. The reason why no loan was concluded was that they did not come to an agreement with the Chinese Government with regard to certain conditions.

Mr. Watt (Glasgow, College, Min.)—What is the objection to making these conditions public?

Sir E. Grey.—It was stated, I think, in a reply given on the 4th. If that reply does not cover the point, and the hon. member will put down a question, I will give what further information I can.

Mr. Harwood-Banner (Liverpool, Everton, Opp.) asked whether the conditions originally laid down by the financial group monopolizing the support of the Six-Powers in the Chinese loan negotiations were considered essential to make any loan sound and really advantageous to China; and, if so, why the Powers were now prepared to give fair consideration to amendments put forward by China.

Sir E. Grey.—The Six-Powers Group has always been prepared to give fair consideration to any counter-proposals taken place in the attitude of the group in this respect. It was the general lines, not all the details, that were essential.

TIBET.

Colonel Yate asked the Secretary for Foreign Affairs whether the Russian Buriat Dorjief had returned to Lhasa; and whether a British Agent could now be sent to Lhasa to see that treaty engagements regarding Tibet were duly observed.

Sir E. Grey.—According to the information which has been received by His Majesty's Government through the British Trade Agent at Gyantse, Dorjief was recently at the monastery of Samding, near Lhasa, but was not there as a Russian Agent, and left this place on September 4th to return to his own country. With regard to the second part of the question I would refer the hon. and gallant member to Article III. of the Anglo-Russian Convention of 1907.

THE OPIUM TRADE AND CHINESE LOAN.

In reply to a question from Sir J. D. Rees (Nottingham, E., Opp.), Mr. Wedgwood Benn (Tower Hamlets, St. George's, Min.), in the absence of the Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, said:—Information received from His Majesty's diplomatic and consular representatives in China gives evidence of the inability of the Central Government at Peking to impose its will on the authorities of the provinces. The same information also shows that, since the outbreak of the revolution, China has signally failed to carry out the stipulations in Article I. of the Anglo-Chinese Agreement of May 8, 1911, providing for the progressive diminution of opium production throughout the country. His right hon. friend could not say that there were any indications at present to warrant the hope that the Central Government would be able in the near future to enforce the discontinuance of poppy cultivation, but he trusted that the gradual restoration of normal conditions, which he believed to be in progress, might ultimately lead to this result. His right hon. friend had no information to bear out the suggestion made in the fourth part of the question that the revenues of the Chinese Government had been largely reduced by the fall in opium importation. The loss of revenue which might have resulted from the decrease in the quantity of opium imported had been offset to a large extent, if not altogether, by the increase in the import duty imposed on foreign opium under Article VI. of the agreement above referred to.

Mr. Watt (Glasgow, College, Min.) asked what were the conditions which were stipulated to the Republic of China by the Powers before the loan which she desired would be permitted.

Mr. Wedgwood Benn said:—His Majesty's Government would have no objection to the publication of the conditions at the proper moment, but before doing so it would be necessary to obtain the assent of the other parties to the agreement. Until, however, the question of loans by the Six-Powers Group is definitely settled it would obviously not be fair to disclose details. As soon as a settlement is arrived at his right hon. friend would seek the consent of the group to publish full particulars. His Majesty's Government had lost no opportunity of announcing that, broadly speaking, the objects which the Governments concerned have had in view are:—To prevent the possibility of a return to the former dangerous policy of unprofitable international competition in China, and to discourage any loans which do not in their opinion offer adequate guarantees for the proper and useful expenditure of the proceeds and satisfactory security for the payment of principal and interest.

THE CHINESE LOAN.

Mr. Ginnell (Westmeath, N., Nat.) asked the Secretary for Foreign Affairs on the 15th ult. whether, as the willingness of British financiers, if allowed, to lend money to China on terms satisfactory to both sides showed the so-called foreign control on which the Six-Power Group alone insisted to be unnecessary for British interests, he would say in what interest the British Foreign Office supported that requirement of the non-British members of the Six-Power Group to which China objected.

Sir E. Grey (Northumberland, Berwick).—I must refer the hon. member to the statement made in reply to the hon. member for West Hampshire on the 8th inst. To lend money to China without adequate guarantees for proper and useful expenditure would impair Chinese credit; it might even lead eventually to the bankruptcy of China, which would provoke all sorts of undesirable foreign interference and would damage the trade of China, and therefore British trade with China. It is in this interest that we have acted.

THE REPUBLIC OF CHINA.

PROPOSED NATIONAL EXHIBITION.

The Ministry of Commerce suggests the holding of the proposed National Industrial Exhibition at the time of the second anniversary of the outbreak of the Revolution.

AGRICULTURE AND FORESTRY.

The Bill for the formation of the Bureau of Experimental Researches in Agriculture and Forestry provides that the Minister of Agriculture shall control the Bureau, which will contain Departments of Agriculture, Forestry, Cattle-breeding and Fisheries. The Staff of the Bureau will consist of eight professional experts, sixteen assistants and four superintendents. A Government Delegate explained that representatives of the Bureau would be appointed to investigate the forests of Manchuria and cattle-breeding in Shantung. With regard to the fisheries, he said that if measures were not taken foreigners would soon monopolize the trade. It was intended that the Bureau should be opened early in 1913. The Forestry Department would be located in the Temple of Heaven while the Departments of Agriculture and Cattle-breeding would be situated at Kalgan. The Bill was referred to a Committee.

NATIONAL ASSEMBLY AND CRISP LOAN.

The Crisp Loan was discussed by the National Assembly on the 31st ult. Wang Shu-sheng said that the House was obliged to pass the Loan because it was already an accomplished fact, but it was only right that the Government should agree to the loan and not because the high-handed policy of the Government had forced them to do so. The Minister of Finance reported the main points of the agreement to a closed session of the National Assembly, which, he said, were untrue. Other members dwelt upon the Government's irregular conduct in the matter of the Loan. Ting Shih-yi argued that it was necessary for the Government to give an explicit statement of their expenditure had been prepared. The Bill stated that the Loan was contracted owing to the rupture in the Sextuple Loan negotiations, but it was still a question whether the Government would resume dealing with the Sextuple Group. Sun Chung criticized the price of the loan, which, he said, represented an enormous loss. Finally, the Agreement was passed by 40 votes to 21.

Great indignation has been aroused among China Merchants' S.N. Co. shareholders in the South and elsewhere over the recent action of the Board of Directors, acting under the instructions of Deputies despatched to Shanghai by the Board of Communications, in discharging Mr. Tang Fanz-tze from the Board of Directors. Mr. Tang, says the Shanghai Mercury, has been in the company for a number of years and the last few years has been on the Board and had charge of the company's affairs and had given general satisfaction. On the news of his discharge becoming known, letters of protest poured into the office and during the past few days telegrams have been received by the Board and Mr. Tang from shareholders representing over 10,000 shares in Canton and Hongkong protesting against the action and advising Mr. Tang not to accept his dismissal, but to retain charge of the company's affairs as usual, until a regular meeting has been held to decide the matter.

"THE ESSENTIAL SAFEGUARD."

In a lengthy article on the Loan situation the Times correspondent at Peking says:—

China's pressing necessities remain, the amount which she has secured by the Birch Crisp flotation serving merely to discharge certain obligations in arrears; it is, therefore, pertinent to inquire by what means the British Government may best avail itself of the present favourable opportunity to reconsider and strengthen its whole policy on the vexed question of Chinese loans.

The declared aims of British policy in China may be roughly defined under two headings—first, the development of British trade; secondly, the maintenance of the political and territorial integrity of China. It requires no elaborate argument to show that both these aims are likely to be attained by lending British capital to China under conditions that secure its honest expenditure upon reproductive works. Equally easy is it to prove that neither of these aims can possibly be advanced by supporting a cosmopolitan group of financiers which at one moment conciliates Germany by the gratuitous surrender of British rights and special interests in the Yangtze Valley, and at another admits the "partition" of Russia and Japan for the undisguised purpose of asserting their "rights and special interests" at China's expense. Neither the integrity of China nor the development of British trade is likely to be assisted by associating British capital with purposes of the kind which have underlain the "Six Nations" recent loan negotiations at Peking—purposes which frankly aim at preventing China from developing her northern territories or reorganising her military forces.

THE QUESTION OF SECURITY.

If, in accepting these possibly inevitable results of China's defenceless state and the ambitions of her powerful neighbours, the officially-supported group of British financiers had shown conscientious appreciation of the necessity for protecting the British investor, and the best economic interests of China herself, by insisting on satisfactory safeguards, there would be less ground for the criticism which has been so freely directed against the Foreign Office's policy of "exclusive support." But what are the facts? The security for the investor, which the official group accepted in the case of the Hukwang Railway Loan (after arranging for German participation on the usual plea of eliminating competition) was of a kind which their own previous experience had proved to be entirely inadequate. The Currency Loan (April, 1911) placed another £10,000,000 at China's disposal under conditions which had already proved to be productive of the worst abuses. In the recent negotiations, intended to provide China with £20,000,000 sterling (four-fifths of which would have been drawn from London and Paris) stress was laid upon the broad margin of security to be found in the revenues of the Salt Gabelle. It is only to-day, when the same security has been pledged for the Birch Crisp loan, that the British investor learns the simple truth about the Salt Gabelle, namely, that as a realisable security it is of no value, inasmuch as it could no more be administered by the Imperial Maritime Customs than the lekin revenues, which were similarly pledged and placed under the control of the Customs by the Edict of March 2nd, 1898, as security for the Anglo-German Loan of that year. Every financier concerned in Chinese affairs was well aware (before the Inspector-General had stated the fact) that the provision for handing over the Salt Gabelle revenues, either to the administration of the foreign Customs or to a separate German-controlled service, was useful only as ornamental material for a prospectus. Had not Sir Robert Hart, after three years of strenuous efforts to control the General and Salt lekin of the Yangtze ports, admitted the thing to be impossible?

Every Legation and every bank is aware of the truth that there exists only one condition under which foreign capital can be made of benefit to China and be itself protected from the same condition which has made the foreign Customs revenue the only reliable asset in the country and the Northern Railways its only profitable Government undertaking. Early in 1909 the British and French Governments, by an exchange of Notes, agreed to unite in maintaining this essential safeguard in all future Chinese loans. The actual formula used was insistence on "Canton-Kowloon terms," the Canton-Kowloon railway agreement, concluded in 1908, having been the last to contain these conditions. As the red-German influence triumphed at Peking these good intentions were subsequently abandoned. The result was a Birch Crisp loan and the necessity for a decent interval before the Peking Government resumes negotiations with the "Six Nations" banks present an excellent opportunity for redeeming the errors of the past, for putting Chinese loans upon a businesslike footing, consistent with the avowed aims of British policy, and for gracefully withdrawing from the "monopoly of support" arrangement. An understanding between Downing-street and the Quai d'Orsay would suffice to define for practical purposes the essential condition of effective supervision over the expenditure of loan funds. It is true that French finance in China has lately been subjected to the pressure of Russian political ambitions in Mongolia; but if Great Britain and France are once agreed upon a policy calculated to protect their legitimate commercial and financial interests in China, the resources of the Triple Entente's diplomacy should suffice to adapt her "rights and special interests" to the necessities of the situation.

A Chinese was yesterday at the Magistrate's fine $10 or in default one month's imprisonment, for playing the three card trick. Mr. E. A. Irving, in passing sentence, remarked that men like the defendant were not gamblers but cheats.

THE CRISP LOAN.

INTERESTING REVELATIONS.

The Shanghai Times in the course of a recent leading article says:—
On Thursday last we dragged the National Review, an Anglo-Chinese weekly paper, to the bar of public opinion. We made certain statements in connection with the National Review, which, if untrue, should have been denied at once. Among other things we pointed out that the National Review had persistently opposed the Six Power Group loan proposals which involved paying China 99 for her Bonds—and strenuously supported the Crisp Loan project—by which China received 89 for her Bonds. Those who were prepared to pay 99 were described as blood-sucking money-lenders; those who gave 89 were inferentially styled high-minded altruists and saviours of China. We also gave some interesting facts about a concern called the China Conservation and Development Company. The public must not be allowed to lose sight of the persons connected with this Company. They are:—

Directors:—
Walter Kirton, Managing Editor, National Review, member of Jackson International Financial Syndicate, recently described as "the principal in China of the Crisp Loan." Y. C. Tong, of the Chinese Telegraph Administration, Shanghai, part proprietor, National Review.
A. Wendall Jackson, member of the Jackson International Syndicate.
Signers of Articles of Association:—
W. S. Ridge, Editor, National Review.
J. B. Leon, staff, National Review.
A. L. Taylor, artist, National Review.
Elizabeth Kirton, wife of Managing Editor, National Review.
Ku Chang-sung, translator, National Review.
T. Y. Pearson, business staff, National Review.

Chupanfay(?)
We did not show on Thursday the precise objects for which the China Conservation and Development Company, Ltd., was formed, contenting ourselves at the time with placing on record the fact that two of the Directors of the China Conservation and Development Company, Ltd., were included among the persons who formed the Jackson International Financial Syndicate, which signed the preliminary agreement for the Crisp Loan. Now we think it is time to tell our readers that the principal objects for which the China Conservation and Development Company, Ltd., was formed were to obtain concessions and make loans.

Let us recapitulate. The National Review has persistently opposed the Six Power loan proposals and strenuously supported the Crisp Loan project. The Crisp Loan promoters took over the rights to arrange a loan secured by the Jackson International Syndicate, in which syndicate figure two Directors of the China Conservation and Development Company, Ltd., one of whom is the Managing Editor of the National Review. The main objects of the China Conservation and Development Company, Ltd., which consists almost entirely of persons connected directly or indirectly with the National Review, are to obtain concessions and to make loans.

Our objection is not to the promotion of the Crisp Loan, though we believe that nothing has occurred since the arrangement of the Belgian Loan by Tang Shengyi in March last more disastrous to the credit and future prospects of China. If China (or those who are guiding her destinies) persists in treading the road that leads to national bankruptcy, intervention and possible partition, that is her own lookout. Those who, without posing as fervent friends, wish China well, have done their best to warn her of the dangers that she is inviting. If she scorns the warnings and hurries towards the brink of the precipice of self-destruction that is her own affair. What has aroused our indignation and inspired us to let light into some exceedingly dark places is the action of the National Review in heaping scurrilous opprobrium upon the Six Power Group and upon the British Government on the pretence that the paper was inspired by a high-minded desire to protect China from oppression, when one of the chief objects was, by defaming a business rival, to secure profits that that rival would have shrunk from exacting. China was told that by allowing preferential rights over future loans to the Six Power Group she was surrendering herself to financial vassalage, yet by Article 14 of the Crisp Loan Agreement she was forced to bind herself not to float any loan on more favourable terms than 89 before the Crisp Loan was realized, without extending preference to the Crisp group. Week in and week out the National Review, by heaping abuse, vituperation, opprobrium, and obloquy upon the Six Power Group, has sought to persuade those of the public that it reaches that the aims and aspirations of the Six Power Group were unworthy and immoral, a menace to China's welfare and a negation of all fair and decent financial dealing. Why? Why has this been the line taken by the National Review, the paper that has as Managing Editor the gentleman who is described as "the principal in China of the Crisp Loan," the gentleman who, with Messrs. Wendall Jackson and Birchall, secured the loan rights that were later acquired by Messrs. C. Birchall & Co.? Why? Why has the National Review, the champion of the Crisp Loan, never published the Crisp Loan Agreement which shows that China was compelled to sell for 89 Bonds for which she could have realized 95? That Agreement has been available; it has been in circulation locally. China has been led to believe by the National Review that that Agreement was an instrument remarkable for its fair dealing and generosity to China.

Don't Trifle With a Cough! Cure it Now.

There is positively nothing equal to Angier's Emulsion for coughs, bronchitis and all chest affections. Not only does it heal and strengthen throat and lungs, but it promotes appetite, aids digestion and builds up strength. For upwards of twenty years Angier's Emulsion has been prescribed by the medical profession and used in the hospitals. It is the standard approved remedy for coughs, lung troubles, and wasting diseases.

ANGIER'S EMULSION

"Cured my Cough and built me up splendidly."

65, Leonard Street, Burslem.

Dear Sirs,—At the beginning of the winter I caught a severe cold, which ended in an attack of bronchitis. I was advised to try Angier's Emulsion, and I am thankful to say that it soon cured my cough, and, in addition, it has built me up splendidly. I can honestly say that it has done more for me than anything I have ever tried. Being an Insurance Agent, I am exposed to all sorts of weather, but since taking your Emulsion, although I have returned home at night on many occasions wet through to the skin, I have had no return of my bronchial trouble. I shall continue to take it, as I find I am putting on flesh, and I feel the benefit of it in many different ways.

JAM SAHIB OF NAWANAGAR.

CHARACTER SKETCH OF A GREAT CRICKETER.

LAYS DOWN HIS BAT AT 40.

A writer, above the initials of A.G.G., sends the following to the Daily News and Leader, and to those who know anything—and who is there that does not—of the conjurer in cricket, will appreciate the eulogy at its true worth. The last ball has been bowled, the bats have been oiled and put away, and around Lord's the grand-stands are deserted and forlorn. We have said farewell to cricket's King. The game will come again with the spring and the new grass will come no more. For the Jam Sahib is fat, and the temple bells are calling him back to his princely duties amid the sunshine and the palm trees and the spicy garlic smells of Nawanganar. No more shall we see him tripping down the pavilion steps, his face wreathed in chubby smiles, no more shall we sit in the jolly sunshine through the live-long day and watch his incomparable art till the evening shadows fall athwart the greensward and send us home content. The well-graced actor leaves the stage and becomes only a memory in a world of happy memories. And so, "hats off" to the Jam Sahib—the prince of a little State, but the King of a great game.

HIS STYLE.

In the quality of his play he is unlike anything that has been seen on the cricket field, certainly in our time. There is extraordinarily little display in his methods. He combines an Oriental calm with an Oriental swiftness—the stillness of the panther with the suddenness of its spring. He has none of the fine flourishes of our own stylists but a quite startling economy of action. The normal batsman, obeying a natural impulse, gets into motion as the bowler starts his run. He keeps pace as it were with his foe, and his movements are a crescendo culminating in a crisis. At the end of the stroke the bat has described a circle, the feet are displaced, the original attitude has been lost in a whirl of motion. The style of the Jam Sahib is entirely different. He stands motionless as the bowler approaches the wicket. He remains motionless as the ball is delivered. It seems to be on him before he takes action. Then without any preliminary flourish, the bat flashes to the ball, and the stroke is over. The body seems never to have changed its position, the feet are unmoved, the bat is as before. Nothing has happened except that one sudden flash—swift, perfectly timed, indisputable.

Like the lightning, which doth cease to be Ere one can say it lightens.

If the supreme art is to achieve the maximum result with the minimum expenditure of effort the Jam Sahib, as a batsman, is in a class by himself. We have no one to challenge with our coarser methods that curious refinement of style, which seems to have reduced action to its barest terms. It is the art of the great etcher who with a line reveals infinity. It is the art of the great dramatist who with a significant word shakes the soul. Schiller, said Coleridge, burns a city to create his effect of terror: Shakespeare drops a handkerchief and freezes our blood. The typical batsman performs a series of intricate evolutions in playing the ball; the Jam Sahib flicks his wrist and the ball bounds to the ropes. It is not juggling, or magic; it is simply the perfect economy of means to an end. His batting may be compared with the oratory of Mr. Asquith, who exercises the same thrift in the use of words as the Jam Sahib exercises in the use of action and achieves the same completeness of effect. The Jam never uses a word too much. Each is a model in that the art of omission of unessentials, that concentration on the one thing that needs to be said or done.

It follows that in all sports in which success depends upon truth of eye and swiftness of action the Jam Sahib has won distinction. At lawn tennis he has in his time beaten Renshaw, and as a shot he takes rank among the most instant and deadly of his time.

A POPULAR HERO.

Probably no cricketer has ever won so peculiar a place in the affections of the people. They loved him from the first for the novelty of the thing. It was as though a pet kitten had begun to talk. The Reform. Here was what the late Lord Salisbury would have called "a black man" playing cricket for all the world as if he were a white man. Then they realised that he did not play it as a white man, but as an artist of another and a superior strain. And so they came to reflect and to catch through this solitary figure in our midst some vision of that vast realm which we govern without knowing anything about it. It is the Jam Sahib's supreme service that, through his genius for the English game, he has familiarised the English people with the idea of the Indian as a man of like affections with ourselves and with capacities beyond ours in directions supposed to be peculiarly our own. In a word, he is the first Indian who has touched the imagination of our people. He has released trains of thought in the common mind that cannot fail to influence beneficially the popular-feeling in regard to the greatest task that belongs to us as a nation.

JOINING EAST AND WEST.

And if India had sought to make herself heard and understood by the people who control her from afar she could not have found a more triumphant missionary than the Jam Sahib with his smile and his bat. Great Indians come to us frequently, men of high scholarship, rare powers of speech, noble character—the Gokhales, the Bannerjies, the Bessus. They come and they go, unseen and unheard by the multitude. The Jam Sahib has brought the East into the heart of our happy holiday crowds, and has taught
